MR. ROBERT CASPARY, MR. CHARLES WALKER, MRS. RUTH COOPER.

MR. DAN HOOTEN, who represents Gays, has been on the Board for one year. To support his family of five children, Mr. Hooten farms near Gays. As Whitley Township Supervisor and a member of the Gays Christian Church, he is active in many community affairs.

MR. GEORGE THOMPSON has two children who have attended our local schools; consequently, he is very interested in the functions of the school system. Besides serving on the Board, he works faithfully in the Methodist Church. His occupation is meat-cutting, and he works at the Windsor IGA.

MR. THOMAS BOTTRELL is a farmer in Windsor, but he still finds time to serve on the Board of Education. He is the father of three boys. Mr. Bottrell, who is a member of the local Methodist Church, has been on the Board three years.

MR. NORMAN McKENZIE has been on the Board one year. In daily life Mr. McKenzie is a farmer. Besides serving on the Board and farming, Mr. McKenzie has many other activities to keep him busy.

MR. ROBERT CASPARY, who has been a Board member for two years, is engaged in many community projects. He is the superintendent and a member of the official board at the Methodist Church. Although he is busied by these activities, he still manages to have time for his wife and three daughters.

MR. CHARLES WALKER is serving as president of the Board this year. Although he is the father of eleven, Mr. Walker has found time to devote nine years to work on the Board. By profession he is a farmer.

MRS. RUTH COOPER is the mother of a son and daughter. Even though Mrs. Cooper's life as wife and mother is very busy, she finds time to participate in many other activities. Because of her interest in our local school system, Mrs. Cooper has served five years on the Board and is this year's secretary.

MR. RUSSELL CURRY, B.S., M.S.
Eastern Illinois University

Although Mr. Curry is a very busy man, he always finds time to be friendly and helpful to all. One of his many responsibilities as unit superintendent is to coordinate the functions of the school system and the activities of the community. Besides performing the many tasks of his job, Mr. Curry is very active in civic affairs and serves faithfully in the Windsor Christian Church.

Seniors Begin a Busy Year

As the seniors began their final year at W. H. S., they had many goals and aims in mind. But their main idea was to make the most - educationally - of their senior year in high school. Our class advisor, Mrs. Carol Aumann, (1) is a very capable counselor and is always willing to help us in all our activities (2). The senior picture taking was a memorable event. As one would expect, the female portion of the class put much preparation into this (3). However, the boys of the 1964 senior class could never be outdone in appearance (4). At "The Jungle Jive," the senior party, Dave Rankin was seen performing many of his duties as class president (5, 6). This is only a beginning to the realization of aims of the serious, studious seniors of 1964 (7). As they finish this final year at Windsor High, may they all find happiness and success in their futures.

Student Council Guides

The Student Council's first project of the year was to guide visitors through the new addition to the high school. About 400 people attended the open house which was held on Sunday, November 17.

Several members of the Student Council attended the Shelbyville District Fall Convention which was held in Robinson on November 30. This convention gave student council members of surrounding schools a chance to meet and discuss their problems and projects.

The main project of the year was the 1963 Homecoming, "Holiday Glow." The homecoming consisted of several plays, a bonfire, and a pep rally on Friday, December 20. A ballgame with Stewardson-Strasburg was held that night. The high school band presented a marching show, and the miniature floats were shown between games. On Saturday the homecoming dance was held, with the crowning of the 1963 Homecoming Queen, Linda Carr, as the climax to the homecoming weekend.

In the spring, elections were held to select a new president and vice-president for the coming year. The new president and vice-president, accompanied by the advisor, Mr. Seng, attended the state convention held in Chicago.

Student Council members decorate Christmas tree.

Cheryl Stilabower puts finishing touches on junior float.

This year the F. H. A. was honored to be working on a national project, entitled "Marriage Calls for Preparation." This project called for a great deal of work from all of the members, including the making of several displays for the bulletin boards. Another of their projects dealt with the preschoolers of this area. They sponsored a Christmas and Valentine's party for this group of youngsters, and baby-sat with them at several P. T. A. meetings. The consummation of their year of money-making projects, including several bake sales, was their trip to Chicago. This trip, made in April, included several tours of the city.

OFFICERS: R. Hampton, T. Bennett, K. Sims, D. Baugher, D. Bauer, T. Elson, Advisor - Mr. Martz.

"Future Farmers, why are we here?" "To practice brotherhood, honor rural opportunities and responsibilities, and develop those qualities of leadership which a Future Farmer should possess." This code, which is recited at every F. F. A. meeting in the nation is followed by all F. F. A. members. Some of the year's activities included: Land Use Judging Team, which won eighth in the section; Officers' Training School and exhibits at the annual Poultry and Grain Show. The Livestock team, which placed first in the section and in the top third in the state, was led by Richard Hampton, who finished third individually in the section.

This year the F. F. A. students collected money and purchased a new F. F. A. banner for the new agriculture shop. The F. F. A. year was climaxed by the annual Family Night at which awards were given to deserving F. F. A. members.

Dale Walker, Tom Dunn, Dwaine Bauer, Don Bauer, and Richard Hampton show some of the products they exhibited.

Snooper Tells All

This year for the first time the Senior Class published a newspaper for their money-making project. They say that the "Snooper" sees all and knows all. This was proven many times this year. You often heard students saying, "How did they find out I did that?" Even though it did reveal many hidden secrets and embarrassing incidents, it was enjoyed by all.

Strives for Yearbook

The yearbook staff with the aid of Mrs. Marsland worked hard to create a successful Pow Wow. Within its covers are the memories of one year at Windsor High School. Much happiness and many disappointments are recorded on its pages.

The business staff gave much needed financial support to the editorial staff. Through the combined efforts and co-operation of the entire staff the yearbook was completed. The staff is proud to have the honor of composing this yearbook.

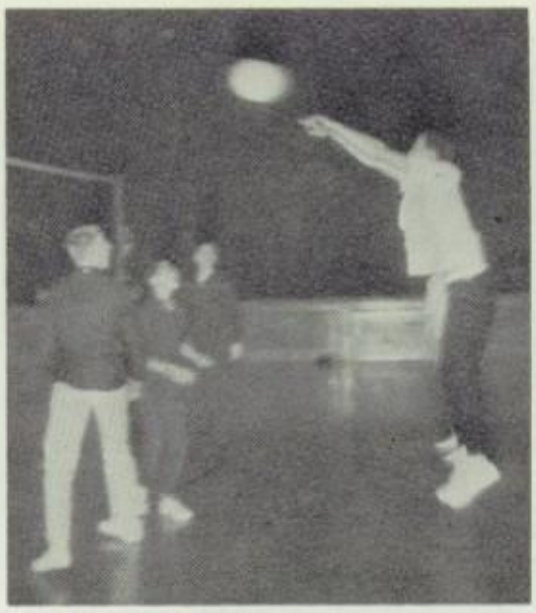
Homecoming Miniature

FIRST PLACE

Weeks before the final activities of the homecoming, the students of W.H.S. were organizing committees to construct miniature floats to be presented Friday night at the game.

Friday was a day of mass confusion. Students running here and there putting final touches on the floats, boys giving their last 15¢ for the party, hurried volleyball players, a quick pep meeting, delicious refreshments, and then home to prepare for the big game.

The Devils once again obtained possession of the hatchet by defeating the Stew.-Stras. Comets.



Features

Floats

Between games entertainment was provided by the Windsor High School band. The juniors won the float contest with the theme of "Lick 'Em!"

"Holiday Glow" was the theme of the homecoming dance, held Saturday, December 21. The highlight of the evening came when Miss Eileen Walker, last year's homecoming queen, crowned Miss Linda Carr queen of Windsor High School for 1963-64. The queen and her court led the students, alumni, and faculty in the annual queen's dance.

Thus, another exciting and memorable homecoming was filed into the history of W.H.S.

Junior Class Scores With "The Little Dog Laughed"

Performing to the fullest house in recent years, the junior class gave Windsor a real evening of entertainment, with their laughed-packed three-act play, "The Little Dog Laughed." Just home from college, Laurie, a budding psychologist, begins to practice on her family, who decide to teach her a lesson by turning the tables on her. And what happens to Laurie shouldn't happen to a dog. The famous Purge Polka, done in wild abandon by Bill Maxedon was one of the highlights of the play. Joining him in his mad performance were Cheryl Stilabower and Bill Fisher. Depicting women at their cattiest in Act II proved to be another laugh-getter. No wonder the little dog laughed!

Each year candidates are elected from each class for Mr. and Miss W.H.S. Whichever class sells the most season tickets wins and their candidates become Mr. and Miss W.H.S. Naturally, there is much rivalry. This year by hard work, and the best salesmanship the sophomores won.

There is also a contest between the boys and the girls. Whoever loses must put on the Christmas party, pay for the food and provide the entertainment. For the third straight year the girls won, so they sat back and relaxed while the boys slaved away on the party preparations.

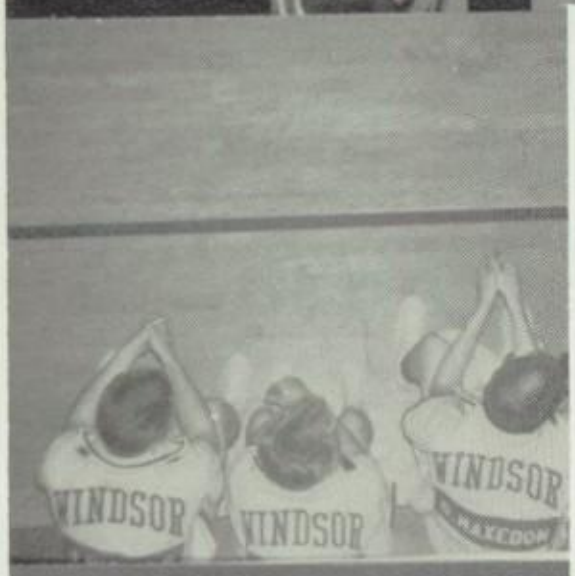
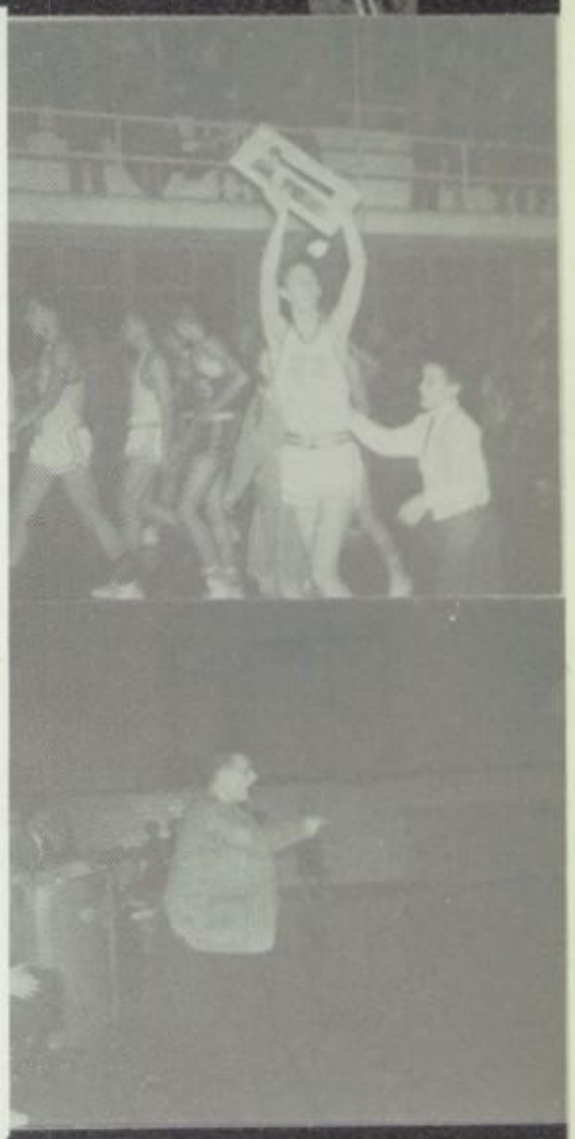
WINDSOR FACES DETERMINED COMPETITION

This year the mighty Blue Devils ended their baseball season with three wins and five losses. As the season progressed, the opposing teams became more forceful in their efforts to win. While Windsor was in a slump, the other teams were in full swing, heading for the conference title. Though the Blue Devils were plagued with errors, they held their heads high and kept trying. However, their efforts were in vain, and they finished in a tie for fourth place in the National Trails Conference.

The bright spot of the season was Randy Sutton, whose constant efforts at bat kept the team's spirit uplifted. With his batting power and the returning bench strength, the outlook for next year is prosperous. Another hope for the future lies in this year's freshman-sophomore team, which ended the year with one win and one loss. Returning lettermen include: Harold Spivey, Larry Shouse, David Champion, Randy Sutton, Bill Maxedon, and Ernest Spivey. With these returning players, all fighting for a starting position, the Blue Devils should be considered a conference threat for years to come. However, next year's team will be handicapped by the loss of the following seniors: Gary Shafer, Sam Taylor, Howard Haney, Joe Hester, Bill Lovins, and Jiles Nichols.





No sudden change of weather, or far away games can keep the fans of the Windsor Blue Devils from attending a basketball game. Windsor people turn out in blizzards and rainstorms just for a chance to see a good game of basketball. Many of the fans are parents, of course, but the majority of them are just people who enjoy basketball and enjoy seeing the Blue Devils work for one of their many victories.

Windsor is known as a basketball-minded town and the proof of this is in the familiar words: WE LIKE OUR TEAM!

Varsity Retains Hatchet

This year's basketball season has been marked by several exciting and unusual games. The first was at Cumberland on December 14. The Blue Devils were defeated by the Cumberland Pirates after four stirring overtimes. This game has been recognized as the longest one in the area. Another high point in the season was at the Shelby Invitational Tournament, where Windsor was battling Litchfield for third place. The Blue Devils finally went under after the third thrilling overtime.

Probably the brightest spot this season was when the Blue Devils beat the Stewardson-Strasburg Comets in their Homecoming game and took possession of the green hatchet. The Devils repeated this event on December 20 and defeated the Comets a second time to win the blue hatchet. These hatchets now grace the trophy cases at Windsor High as a fitting memorial of the 1963-1964 basketball team.

Graduating senior players this year are Bill Lovins, Jiles Nichols, Dean Rohlf, Mike Gannaway, and Joe Hester.

Next year's team will benefit by the return of the following varsity players: David Curry, Bill Maxedon, Jerry Van Matre, Larry Shouse, Bill Fisher, and David Champion.

J.V.'s Display Spirit

The junior varsity of '63-'64 was hampered by lack of height, but they made up for this by a very competitive team spirit. Although their record was not as good as usual, their team spirit was impressive. When a tense situation arrived, they were usually able to handle it. The team possessed great ability and had great desire, but were unable to get their talents to work together for a successful season.

The combination of this year's junior varsity plus the returning lettermen should prove to keep the Windsor Blue Devils on the road to victory next year.

Team managers, Garrett Kirk and Richard Vail, keep Devils tip-top!

Seven Reasons

Why Windsor Wins

The main reason a basketball team wins is the skill and teamwork shown by the players. But another reason is the interest and backing displayed by the fans. This year the Windsor Blue Devils had many followers, but probably the most loyal were the seven girls who cheered them through good times and bad. Cheerleaders are needed to inspire their teams to victory, and the Windsor Blue Devils have seven - seven good reasons to win!

Mrs. Aumann, cheerleader advisor, shows a technique to Linda Carr.

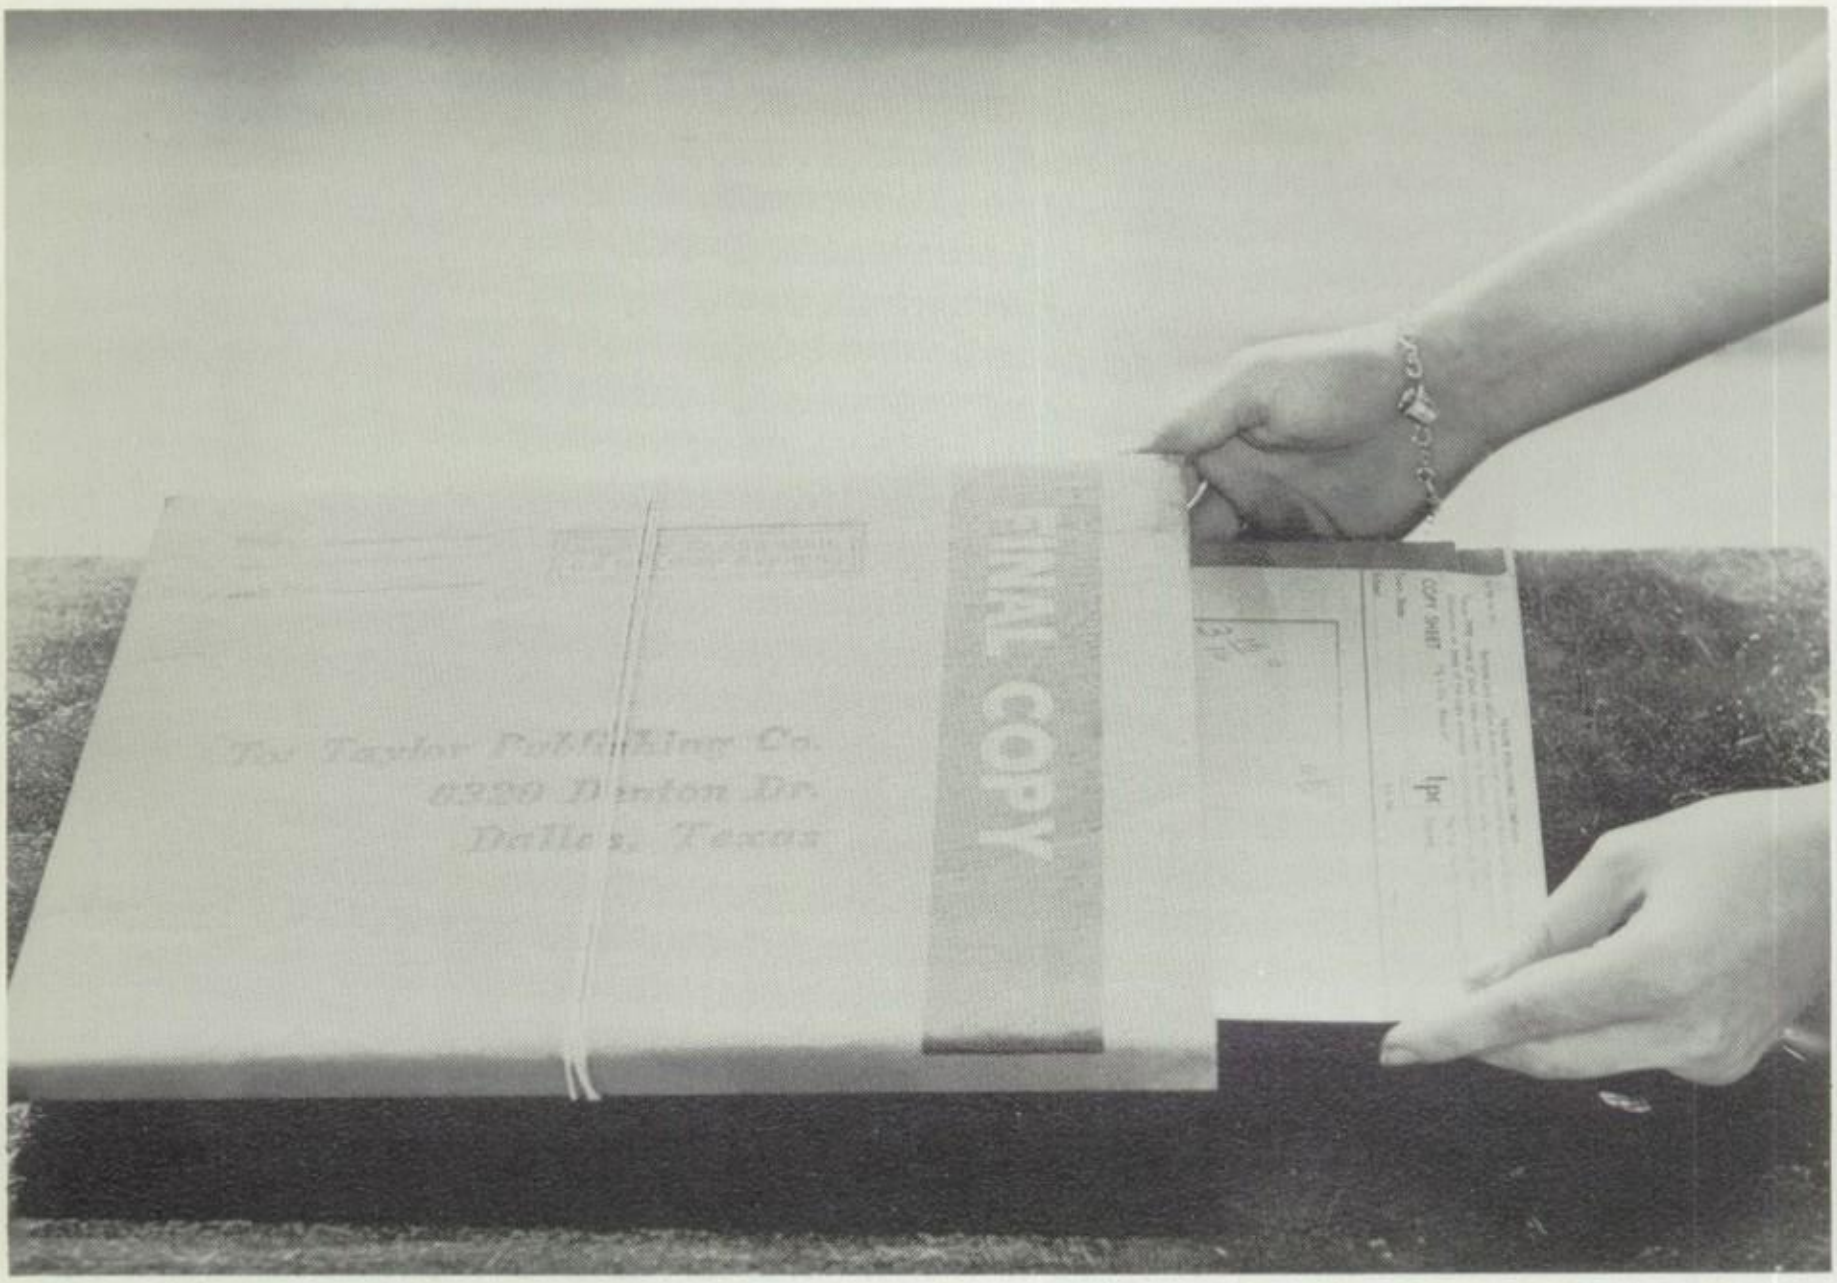
Pow Wow Farewell



This year is drawing to a close; however, for many of us this is only a beginning, and for all of us there is much to look forward to. There will be the prom, final exams, summer vacation and, for many, plans for higher education. The 64 POW WOW Staff has sought to capture many of the highlights of Windsor High 1964 in pictures. As this year terminates, we hope this book will bring back fond memories of this year at W.H.S.
